Please Complete All Forms

NOTE: If your child is here for an evaluation, have your child do the four Self-Assessment Forms while you complete the other paperwork. Look over your child's responses and put a check mark beside any differences in perspective that you may have.

Thank you, Citadel Behavioral Health Services, Inc.

REGARDING INSURANCE PLANS

You can be helpful in preserving our ability to provide services to you under your insurance plan by making certain that you track the timely payment of your claim. If you do not receive an Explanation of Benefits (EOB) from your insurance company within 30 days from the date of your appointment, you should call them to check on the status of your claim. If you receive an EOB, but it shows that no payment was made to us, you need to call your insurance company.

Unpaid balances beyond 45 days will, by necessity, be charged to your credit card. Hopefully, your efforts and ours will meet with success.

Thank you,

Citadel Behavioral Health Services, Inc.

Termination of the Provider - Patient Relationship

A good relationship between a provider and his or her patient is essential for quality medical care. There are times when this relationship is no longer effective, and the provider finds it necessary to ask the patient to select another provider. The following are examples of situations that could make this necessary:

- 1. Repeated missed appointments
- 2. Nonpayment of account
- 3. Not following treatment recommendations
- 4. Misuse / abuse of prescribed medications
- 5. Obtaining duplicate prescriptions from multiple prescribers
- 6. Abusive behavior towards office staff

I have read and understand the Office Policies, and I agree to be bound by its terms.

The "Off-Label" Use of Medication

There are times we prescribe medications, which are not labeled specifically for usage in a particular condition. This is because the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) indications for any given drug is based on their review and acceptance of studies which have been submitted to them for usage in specific diagnoses rather than symptoms. Medications treat symptoms, not diagnoses. There are times when a medication is found to be useful for one symptom or disorder, but clinical experience reveals that it is also useful in other areas. When this occurs, pharmaceutical companies occasionally conduct new medication trials and seek additional FDA approval. This pursuit of "indication for use" from the FDA is a business decision that many pharmaceutical companies decide not to make because of the extremely high cost of medication research and testing and the fact that the medication has already received approval for prescribing. Most pharmaceutical companies decide to rely upon doctors learning of these additional uses through articles published in medical journals, professional educational forums, and collegial networking. The usage of medications without FDA indication for a certain condition is referred to as "off-label" use.

There are special circumstances in regard to children. Most of all the medications that child psychiatrists, pediatric neurologists, and pediatricians use are used "off-label." Considering the complications of testing medication on children (a child cannot sign a waiver stating that he / she understands the risks of being involved in medication research), there are very few medications that are "approved" by the FDA for children. An example of an "off-label" use of medication with which you might be acquainted would be amoxicillin. Amoxicillin was widely used with adults and its success in treating infection led to its almost immediate embrace by pediatricians. Because it was already being used with children the manufacturer never sought an approved indication and, to this day, amoxicillin is not "approved" by the FDA for use in children although its use is nearly universal.

It is important for you to understand that the medications we recommend and prescribe have been shown to be helpful in the hands of many physicians. We want you to be informed of the possible benefits and side effects of these medications and encourage you to read all you can and ask any questions that you have. We are committed to pursuing a plan of action which leads to the lowest dosage of medication and the smallest number of medications used, consistent with optimal level of wellness. Our goal for the medication we prescribe is to treat and reverse as many symptoms as possible while pursuing additional non-medication strategies. Counseling and lifestyle changes can further add to the recovery from the presenting symptoms in the short run. This will also enable the medication itself to work more effectively and may, in the long run, possibly negate the need for some or all of the medications originally prescribed.

Please feel free to express any concerns or questions you may have during your visit. We endeavor to provide you all the information we can in order to help you make informed decisions concerning you or your child's care.

- Inspect and request a copy of your health record as provided by law.
- Request that we amend your health record as provided by law. We will notify you if we are unable to grant your request to amend your health record.
- Obtain an accounting of disclosures of your health information as provided by law.
- Request communication of your health information by alternative means or at alternative locations. We will accommodate reasonable requests.
- Revoke your authorization disclose health information except to the extent that action has already be taken.

You may exercise your rights set forth in this notice by providing a written request, except for requests to obtain a paper copy of this notice to the Practice Administrator at Citadel Behavioral Health Services.

Our Responsibilities:

In addition to the responsibilities set forth above, we are also required to:

- Maintain the privacy of your health information
- Provide you with a notice as to our legal duties and privacy practices with respect to information we maintain about you.
- Abide by the terms of this notice.
- Notify you if we are unable to agree to a requested restriction on certain uses and disclosures.
- We reserve the right to change our practices and to make the new provisions effective for all protected health information we maintain, including information created or received before the change. Should our information practices change, we are not required to notify you, but we will have the revised notice available at your request.
- · We will not use or disclose your health information without your written authorization, except as described in this notice.

Examples of Disclosures for Treatment, Payment, Health Care Operations and As Otherwise Allowed By Law

The following categories describe different ways that we use and disclose medication information. For each category, we will explain what we mean & give some examples. Not every use or disclosure in a category will be listed. However, all of the ways we are permitted to use and disclose information should fall within one of the categories.

We will use your health information for treatment. For example: We may disclose medical information about you to your primary care physician or subsequent health care providers with copies of various reports to assist in treating you once you are discharged from Citadel Behavioral Health Services.

We will use your health information for payment. For example: A bill may be sent to you or a third-party payer. The information on or accompanying the bill may include information that may identify you, as well as your diagnosis.

Business Associates: There are some services provided in our organization through agreements with business associates. Examples including copying services, accounting services, computer services, etc. To protect your health information, however, we require business associates to appropriately safeguard your information.

Notification: We may use or disclose information to notify or assist in notifying a family member, personal representative, or another person responsible for your care, your location and general condition.

Communications for treatment and health care operations: We may contact you to provide appointment reminders or information about treatment alternatives or other health related benefits and services that may be of interest to you. We may leave appointment reminders on your answering machine or voicemail at home or work, or with a person answering the telephone.

Worker's compensation: We may disclose health information to the extent authorized by and to the extent necessary to comply with laws relating to worker's compensation or other similar programs established by law. For example: You may apply for Disability Insurance Benefits or Life Insurance. Your insurance carrier may request medical information to review your application.

Public health: As required by law, we may disclose your health information to public health or legal authorities charged with preventing or controlling disability.

Abuse, neglect or domestic violence: As required by law, we may disclose health information to a governmental authority authorized by law to receive reports of abuse, neglect or domestic violence.

Judicial, administrative and law enforcement purposes: Consistent with applicable law, we may disclose health information about you for judicial, administrative and/or law enforcement purposes. We will disclose medical information about you when required or allowed to do so by federal, state, or local law.

I acknowledge that I have reviewed and accept the Citadel Behavioral Health Services policy regarding Health Information Practices.
